TRIOLOGICAL SOCIETY

The Department of Otolaryngology/Head & Neck Surgery is delighted to announce that Dr. Kuan has been accepted into the Triological Society. He will be inducted at Combined Otolaryngology Spring Meeting (COSM) in April 2022. Attaining this fellowship is a badge of respect in our specialty and Dr. Kuan deserves acknowledgement for his hard work.

The Triological Society is one of the oldest and most prestigious societies in the field of otolaryngology-head and neck surgery, with inducted fellows required to submit a thesis of their academic work which is reviewed by a designated committee. Only 5 percent of otolaryngologists nationwide are inducted into the society through this process. Under Dr. Roger Crumley's department leadership, UCI has a strong history and tradition of involvement with the Triological Society, with more than half of the department faculty being fellows. These include: Drs. Roger Crumley, William Armstrong, Brian Wong, Hamid Djalilian, Sunil Verma, Harrison Lin, and Edward Kuan. We would like to extend our gratitude to them for their commitment to advancing the UCI Discover, Teach and Heal mission.
